IRONHAWKS BEGIN HEAVY HOME SCHEDULE

The Ironhawks are finally back inside the friendly confines of the CURE Insurance Arena as they begin an extended stretch of home games. Trenton opened the season playing 10 of its first 14 games on the road, but will now enjoy a significant stretch at home, with nine of its next 10 games taking place at the CURE Insurance Arena. Overall, the Ironhawks will play 21 of their next 26 games on home ice, providing an opportunity to build momentum in front of their home crowd. Trenton enters tonight with a 2-1-1 record at home this season.

OPPORTUNISTIC OFFENSE: IRONHAWKS LEAD ECHL IN SHOOTING PERCENTAGE

The Ironhawks have an incredibly opportunistic team that has shown it doesn't need many chances to find the back of the net. While Trenton might like to increase its overall shot volume, the team has been able to score at an impressive clip. The Ironhawks are averaging 3.14 goals per game, which ranks 13th in the ECHL, on an average of 24.07 shots per game. That equates to an impressive 13.0% shooting percentage, demonstrating the team's ability to capitalize on its scoring opportunities.

FIRST PERIOD DOMINANCE

The Ironhawks have made a habit of getting off to strong starts, scoring the opening goal in 11 of their first 14 games to begin the season. Trenton has been particularly effective in the opening period, outscoring its opponents 13-5 in the first 20 minutes. That +8 goal differential is the team's best mark by period and ranks second in the entire ECHL, trailing only the Florida Everblades. The Ironhawks are 6-3-2 when scoring first this season, highlighting the importance of establishing an early lead. Getting on the board early has allowed Trenton to dictate the pace of play and put itself in a position to win hockey games.

STRONG WEEK FOR SOP

Matt Sop put together a productive road trip, recording four points in three games, including a late third-period breakaway goal against Reading. Sop has been an excellent addition to the Ironhawks lineup and now has eight points in 10 games since joining Trenton. The 23-year-old brings dynamic playmaking ability and creativity to the offensive zone, giving the Ironhawks another important weapon up front. Trenton will continue to rely on Sop to help drive its offense and play a significant role in the team's offensive production moving forward.

READING SHUTOUT IN WORCESTER

The Reading Royals fell 3-0 to the Worcester Railers on Sunday afternoon at the DCU Center. Worcester scored twice in a 1:23 span midway through the first period to take an early lead before adding an insurance goal in the third. Gahagen stopped all 25 shots he faced to earn the shutout and first-star honors. Reading was held scoreless for the first time this season.

2026-27 COACHING STAFF

Chuck Weber serves as the first Head Coach and Director of Hockey Operations for the Trenton Ironhawks, bringing more than two decades of coaching experience and a proven track record of success at every level of hockey. A two-time Kelly Cup champion with the Cincinnati Cyclones, Weber was named the ECHL's John Brophy Coach of the Year in 2008. He is also a championship-winning coach in the IHL and EIHL and has helped develop players and teams on the international stage.

In six seasons as an ECHL head coach, Weber has compiled a 233-167-51 record, leading his teams to the Kelly Cup Playoffs in five seasons and capturing the championship twice. Most recently, as an assistant coach, he helped Great Britain win gold at the 2024 and 2026 IIHF Division I Group A World Championships. His experience developing young talent and helping players advance through the professional ranks will be a key part of building the Ironhawks into a successful organization.

Weber's return to Trenton brings his career full circle after serving as an assistant coach with the Trenton Titans during the 2001-02 season. Excited to return to a community that holds special memories for him and his family, Weber is committed to building a competitive team on the ice while making a strong impact throughout Trenton, Mercer County and the surrounding region.

2026-27 COACHING STAFF

A passionate hockey coach and former professional player, Brett Boeing joins the Ironhawks with experience developing talent and contributing to winning cultures at every level of the game. He most recently served as Assistant Coach for the Iowa Heartlanders of the ECHL, where he worked closely with player development, personnel decisions, and day-to-day hockey operations.

Brett began his hockey career at Shattuck-St. Mary's before continuing with the Dubuque Fighting Saints of the USHL and the University of Massachusetts Amherst. He went on to play professionally in the ECHL and Europe for four seasons before transitioning into coaching. His coaching experience includes serving as a volunteer assistant with Dubuque and as an assistant coach with the Tahoe Knight Monsters before joining Iowa in 2025.

With firsthand experience as both a player and coach, Brett brings a strong understanding of player development, leadership and what it takes to succeed in competitive environments. He is excited to bring that experience to Trenton and help develop the next generation of players while contributing to the Ironhawks' success both on and off the ice.
