

SOUTH CAROLINA STINGRAYS GAME NOTES

TONIGHT'S PREVIEW

Tonight, the Stingrays (3-4-2-0) will take on the Icemen for the second of nine meetings between the two teams this season. South Carolina is 33-28-6 all-time against the Icemen. Wednesday will be the second of three November games in Jacksonville for the Stingrays. The Stingrays will return to Jacksonville again on November 22 for a pre-Thanksgiving tilt against the Icemen. The Icemen are 4-3-1-0 and currently sit one point ahead of the Stingrays in the South Division standings.

LAST TIME OUT

South Carolina dropped a 2-1 decision in overtime against the top ranked Atlanta Gladiators. The Stingrays trailed for most of this game thanks to an early tally by Atlanta's Ryan Cranford to put the visitors up 1-0. Josh Wilkins tied the game for the Stingrays with 2:06 remaining when he deflected a Connor Moore shot past Atlanta goaltender Tyler Harmon. Luke Prokop scored four minutes into overtime, and the Gladiators took the extra point.

WHO'S HOT: Connor Moore has tallied an assist in three straight games.

Through nine games, he is tied for the most points on the Stingrays with eight, and only seven ECHL defensemen have more points than him this season.

STAT OF THE NIGHT: South Carolina has killed off ten consecutive penalties over the last three games. The Stingrays have killed off 20 of 21 penalties taken in their six road games this season. Their road penalty kill ranks third in the ECHL (95.2%).
