FIVES ALL AROUND

South Carolina comes into Friday night's contest with Savannah on a five game win streak, tied for their longest win streak this season. The Stingrays picked up an overtime victory on Tuesday in Orlando, beating the Solar Bears, 2-1. With the win, that is also South Carolina's fifth straight win on the road, a new season long.

SIMON SCORES

South Carolina forward Simon Pinard has been a big factor in the Stingrays five-game win streak. Across the five games, the Drummondville, Quebec native has nine points (4g, 5a), including netting the game-winning goals in each of the last three games. Pinard currently leads the team in assists (23) and points (34).

PK COMING TO PLAY

South Carolina's penalty kill has sorted out its struggles over the past month. In the month of December, the Stingrays penalty kill worked at 92%, and allowed only four power play goals across the month. South Carolina is now operating at 85.2% this season, which is sixth in the ECHL. The Stingrays have killed of 16 of 17 PK's in the last five games.

STAN THE MAN

Rookie forward Stan Cooley has points in three out of his last four games after picking up a goal and assist in the Stingrays victory on Saturday night. The Regina, Saskatchewan native has five points (2g, 3a) over his last four games, including two multi-point outings. Cooley snapped a seven-game pointless streak after having a goal and assist on January 2 against Greensboro.

STACKING AGAINST THE DIVISION

The Stingrays continue a very South Division heavy schedule this season. South Carolina against the South Division this season is 18-11-1-0, while holding a 4-0 record against the North Division. 60 of South Carolina's 72 games this season are against the South Division. South Carolina's next 22 games come against the South Division.
