CLASH WITH THE GLADS South Carolina begins the 2026 Kelly Cup Playoffs with the Atlanta Gladiators in the South Division Semifinals. The Stingrays and Gladiators meet for the first time in the playoffs since 2013 and the fifth time overall in the Kelly Cup Playoffs. South Carolina and Atlanta have split their four postseason meetings in the club's histories.

South Carolina went 26-9-0-1 at home this season and had the second most wins in the ECHL at home, only behind Brabham Cup winner Kansas City. The Stingrays also had a +26 goal differential in North Charleston. The Stingrays will host Game 1, Game 2, and if necessary Game 5 and Game 7.

PENALTY KILLERS The Stingrays were the most penalized team in the ECHL this season, but had one of the best penalty kill units in the league. This season, the Stingrays penalty kill worked at 85.4 percent, the fourth best in the ECHL. In the season series with the Gladiators, South Carolina killed off 33 of 34 penalties.
