Trois-Rivieres Lions (15-5-0) Toledo Walleve at a Glance

Backs Against The Wall: The Toledo Walleve dropped game four of the Kelly Cup Finals 3-1 against the Trois-Rivieres Lions on Friday night at Colisee Videotron. Brandon Hawkins scored the lone Walleye goal with Tyler Spezia and Mitch Lewandowski assisting the tally. Goaltender Jan Bednar took the loss in net, saving 19 of 21 shots faced.

Something New: The Toledo Walleye and the Trois-Rivieres Lions will have their first meeting ever in the 2025 Kelly Cup Finals. The two teams put a series on the ledger for next season, as the Walleye head to Canada for a three-game weekend February 20-22, 2026. Each team has a storyline heading into the first ever matchup as well. The Walleve look to shake the demons and win Toledo's first championship in 30 years, while the Lions look to win their first championship in their fifth season of existence, and just over a year after the threat of disolution.

Next Level Support: The Toledo Walleve continue to pack the Huntington Center, boasting a consecutive sellout streak of 80 games. The Fish faithful have taken in to the next level, packing 8,600 people into the arena for game five against Kansas City and both games one and two against Trois-Rivieres, tying the single game attendance record not only for the playoffs, but in the Huntington Center. The crowd of 8,600 fans on Monday marked the seventh occurrence of that figure. The mark of 8,600 is the fifth-highest figure in Walleye history, trailing the four Winterfest games held at Fifth Third Field during the 2014-15 and 2021-22 seasons. The sellout streak spanning nearly two seasons has welcomed over 643,000 fans into the Huntington Center, averaging 8,040 fans per game and 108% capacity. The last nonsellout in the Glass City was December 3, 2023, against the Iowa Heartlanders.

This Day in Toledo Hockey History: This 2024-25 Toledo Walleye team becomes the first in Toledo Hockey History to play on June 7th.
